

Who We Are

In 2009, two local business owners' families were separately hit with the devastating disease known as Alzheimer's. They spent years struggling to find local, relevant support and information to improve the quality of life for their loved ones. After several years of researching, training, living, caring and comforting their loved ones with Alzheimer's disease, they decided something more had to be done. So, in 2012 Cary Lopez, Executive Director and Kristine Allen, President, sold their successful fragrance business and launched Act Now Foundation.

Since 2012, Act Now Foundation, a grass roots 501 (c)(3) non-profit, has worked tirelessly to raise awareness, advocate and educate New Jersey about Alzheimer's disease, prevention, and early detection.

Our Vision & Mission

Our vision is to create a dementia-friendly New Jersey. To reduce the impact of Alzheimer's disease in New Jersey and to engage the communities to build supportive, capable, and Alzheimer's educated environments. To help caregivers become prepared, supported and more capable of coping with the communication challenges they face living and caring for someone with Alzheimer's disease or related dementia.

Programs are funded in part by the Hudson County Division on Aging, Hudson County Office of Inclusion and Accessibility, Bergen and Essex County Division of Senior Services, Community Development Block Grants, Alzheimer's Foundation of America, and The Henry & Marilyn Taub Foundation.

Building Awareness One Mind at a Time

What We Do

Act Now Foundation's program priorities are driven by the needs of the community. Our mission is to improve the quality of life of those living with dementia and their caregivers by offering comprehensive dementia care. Programs are designed with the community and family in mind.

Knowledge is Power - Early detection of a cognitive decline via evaluations testing are essential for peace of mind and preparation for the future.

Quality Caregiving - Informed, connected, educated, and supported caregivers are able to cope better with depression, behavioral challenges, unexpected care requirements and combat personal stress and burnout.

Increased Independence - Can be achieved for both the caregiver and the individual living with dementia with a comprehensive dementia care plan.

The organization works tirelessly to reach those individuals and families that would not normally have access to supportive services. Due to our grass-roots efforts we have screened, educated, and supported over 5,000 individuals and families in New Jersey over the last 3 years.

What is Alzheimer's?

For families, caregivers, and society at large, Alzheimer's and related dementias can be emotionally and financially ruinous. Alzheimer's disease and other dementias generate catastrophic healthcare, economic, and social impacts—and these impacts are rapidly growing. In New Jersey, there are over 447,000 caregivers taking care of over 170,000 seniors with Alzheimer's disease or a related dementia.

Alzheimer's disease is the most common form of dementia, a progressive brain disease that slowly destroys memories and thinking skills. Alzheimer's often starts 5, 10, or even 20 years before symptoms appear. Symptoms usually start with difficulty remembering new information. In advanced stages, symptoms include confusion, mood and behavior changes, and inability to care for one's self and perform basic life tasks. Alzheimer's is ultimately fatal.

Alzheimer's disease is the most feared disease in the U.S.

The Foundation's name, "ACT" stands for Awareness, Cure, and Treatment of Alzheimer's
