Applied Behavior Analysis

1 Lupton Ave
Woodbury, NJ

Applied Behavior Analysis

ABA is a scientific approach to understanding behavior by assessing an individual to learn the functions of each behavior.

ABA focuses on creating an environment that supports behavior change paired with reinforcement, interventions, and various other techniques. Behavior analysts strengthen skills or teach alternative skills to increase engagement, socialization, and functional communication skills. Treatment plans and interventions are created to focus on each individual's unique skills and deficits to see a desired behavior or changes in behavior. The main focus of ABA is to improve quality of life and socially significant behaviors.

Our Mission

To strengthen families to be full participants in the solution of problems resulting from individual disability or mental health issues and/or family and community disruption. FTxCS seeks to establish the family and community as the primary support for their children, thereby achieving outcomes that eliminate the need for further services from artificial supports.
